RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1880.

NO. 85.

A Fool's Chase for an Elopement.

From the Shreveport Standard.

Yesterday morning an eloping couple arrived in this city. On the same train was a pursuer, who had followed the fugitives four days and nights, but without their knowledge. John W. Brack and Miss Elizabeth Morgan, both of Jasper county, Mo., were betrothed, and the time set for their marriage was last Friday night. On the same day a rival, Thomas Fremont, induced the expectant bride to elope with him, and they took the train south. The rightful claimant took the train in hot pursuit. He followed them four days and nights without sleeping and at Marshall took the same train with the eloping couple for this city. On arriving here they engaged rooms at the Pacific house, but they had hardly been shown to their rooms when their pursuer, attended by a policeman, put in an appearance. Thomas Fremont proposed to leave the decision to the lady. After some hesitation, and with a show of great regret at taking leave of the man with whom she had eloped, she made her decision in favor of the gentleman to whom she was first engaged, and decided to cast her destiny and fortune with Mr. Brack. Mr. Fremont, the disappointed eloper, relinquished all claims to the lady and took his leave. Accordingly, and as a happy finale to the episode, Mr. John W. Brack and Miss Elizabeth Morgan were united in the legal bonds of matrimony at the Pacific House yesterday morning.

Anthony Murphy's Strange Reappearance.

Anthony Murphy departed mysteriously from his home in Philadelphia. He had been a sober, industrious man, and few would believe that he had deserted his family. His wife was sure that he had been murdered. Two months afterward she was summoned to the morgue to see if a body from the river was that of her husband. She said yes, at once, and to make the identification more positive, pointed out a mal-formed finger, a mole on the arm, two teeth gone and a new suit of broadcloth. A wake was held, and the remains were buried. Four months passed, and one day Anthony Murphy walked coolly into his home. Mrs. Murphy exclaimed: "It's an angel from heaven," and fainted away. She immediately came to the conclusion that he had risen from the dead, and nothing could shake her firm belief that such was the fact. Her friends who attended the wake take the same view of the matter, and Murphy, himself, is in doubt, for his brain has been affected since his return—probably since his departure. He has a very dim recollection of a western trip, but is not prepared to say whether he was in or out of the flesh.

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES A. GARFIELD,
OF OHIO;
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
OF NEW YORK.

A LEADING ENGLISH JOURNAL ON GARFIELD.

From the London Standard.
He is a man of marked character, and, for one who has waded for twenty years in the mire of American politics, of reputable pure public life. He has kept his hands clean, while many of those around him have deliberately dirtied theirs with public and private money.

GARFIELD AND THE CREDIT-MOBILIER.

The Democratic journals throughout the land seem disposed to make Gen. Garfield's alleged guilty connection with the Credit-Mobilier their mainstay in the campaign. They do not weary of repeating the old story which has already been sufficiently refuted.
There is little capital to be made out of it. It is impossible for any man who has fairly weighed the testimony to believe that Garfield was guilty.

After the Poland committee had made its report, Gen. Garfield caused all the evidence submitted to that committee to be published in pamphlet form. This pamphlet he caused to be circulated among his constituents.
Those constituents a year later again sent him to Congress, thus expressing their entire faith in his innocence. The joint Legislature of the State of Ohio last year, elected him to succeed Allen G. Thurman as U. S. Senator from Ohio. Thus, in his own State, where his acts have been most closely scrutinized, the character of Gen. Garfield has been vindicated. Had there been any ground for believing him corrupt his re-election to Congress would have been impossible.

The GAZETTE has published the letter of Judge Jerry Black, declaring his implicit faith in Garfield's purity of character, and his innocence of any guilty connection with the Credit-Mobilier. Judge Black is a pronounced Democrat and one of the most astute and distinguished of the judiciary of the United States.

Judge Poland of Vermont, chairman of the Credit-Mobilier investigating committee, recently published a letter in which he spoke in the highest terms of General Garfield, saying that he believed he is and always was absolutely incorruptible and would be so under any circumstances. Judge Poland says he never believed Garfield guilty of anything dishonorable in relation to the Credit-Mobilier. The letter referred to has been submitted to our readers.

The whole evidence taken before the Poland committee is still accessible, and a careful examination of it will clear Garfield in the opinion of unbiased men. The GAZETTE recently published a fair review of the whole subject from the pages of the New York Nation.

In looking over the evidence one is struck by the fact that there is no testimony whatever against Garfield but that given by Oakes Ames. The case against Garfield rests absolutely upon the unsupported evidence of this man Ames. If, then, it is shown that Ames' testimony is not trustworthy, all the evidence against Garfield is destroyed. Let us see.

On his opening examination before the Poland committee, Dec. 12, 1872, Ames testified under oath that Garfield never took any Credit-Mobilier stock, never paid for any, and that he (Ames) had never paid Garfield any dividend upon any stock. On the following day Ames repeated, in the most unqualified terms, his evidence exonerating Garfield. But on Jan.
23, 1873, Ames gave testimony directly contradictory of his previous sworn statements. He then said Garfield had agreed to take stock but had never received any, and that Garfield had received from him $329 as net profit on ten shares which he (Ames) had carried for him. Here, then, is conclusive evidence that Oakes Ames was a liar and a perjurer. He swore falsely either on Dec. 17, 1872, or on Jan. 22, 1873. His was the only evidence against Garfield, and his was the evidence of a perjured liar.

There are many weighty considerations that might be brought forward to establish Garfield's entire innocence in the Credit-Mobilier affair, but enough has already been said on that point. We hold that Garfield's reputation requires no further vindication. No one who knows him believes him corrupt.
The fact that nothing but these old, exploded scandals can be brought against a man who has been prominent in public life for eighteen years is of itself sufficiently convincing. In his position as chairman of the Congressional Committee on Appropriations, Garfield had opportunities to make himself rich had he not scorned a bribe. A corrupt man would have in four years secured an independence for life. Garfield is a poor man to-day. The whole life of the man and all his aims and aspirations give the lie to the charge of corruption.

TWO HORNS OF THE DILEMMA.

How is our State Treasurer to escape from the difficulty in which he is placed by his own sworn statements? If the money he drew out of the Savings Bank belonged to the State, as he swore that it did, he is a criminal. The law says:
"The State Treasurer shall securely keep in the safe and vault provided for him for that purpose in his office at the seat of government, all the public moneys, bonds, and securities of the State, appertaining to his office, and shall not deposit any part or portion of the same within any individual copartnership or corporation, nor shall he use said money, or any part thereof, or allow any one else to do so, except in the payment of bonds etc. or warrants properly drawn upon him by the Controller."

Mr. Crockett could not legally receive notes or drafts in payment for State dues. If he did so he should have collected the coin on them before issuing his receipt, and not allowed the State to run any risk. Instead of this, he seems to have received checks and sent them to a bank in which he had an interest, and allowed a balance to remain there, against which he drew. These seem to be well established facts. Suppose they are all false. Suppose there was no State money in the bank, how does Mr.
Crockett stand? Taking advantage of his position as an officer of the bank, he protected himself at the sacrifice of his dignity and his duty to his customers. He rushed in in the night and emptied the tills of everything, gold, and silver, dollars, dimes and nickels, carrying it sweating and puffing to the depot without even waiting to count it. The Treasurer of a State should be, at least in money matters, like Caesar's wife, above reproach. Take either side of a man of high honor or scrupulous the case, are Mr. Crockett's acts those of integrity? Should such conduct in the man who handles millions of our money be held to account, or should he be allowed to ignore charges such as are publicly made? If this matter is allowed to drop, the people of Nevada deserve to have their affairs mismanaged, and they may be very sure they will be, to the damaging of our credit and the disgrace of our political management.

THE N. Y. TRIBUNE AND GARFIELD.

The Virginia Chronicle, referring to what the New York Tribune said on January 15, 1873, exculpating General Garfield from any blame in the Credit Mobilier scandal, claims that the Tribune afterward changed its mind.
But the Tribune's recent statement of its course regarding General Garfield does not bear out the Chronicle in its assertion. Ten days ago the Tribune reviewed all it had ever said concerning Garfield's connection with the Credit Mobilier, declaring that ever since the investigation it had been convinced of his innocence. When, ever, since 1873, the name of James A. Garfield has been mentioned in the Tribune, it has been mentioned with respect. It is true that on February 19, 1873, the Tribune included Gen.
Garfield's name in a list of Congressmen connected with the Credit Mobilier. The Tribune, in explanation of this, lately said that the paper was then maintaining a critical attitude toward the Republican party, and was not disposed to go out of its way to exonerate Republican Congressmen.

Therefore, in reviewing the work of the Poland committee, it made no exception in favor of Garfield. But ever since that period the attitude of the paper has been friendly toward him, and the Tribune now expresses the greatest admiration and esteem for him. Even if the Tribune had expressed an unfavorable opinion of Garfield at the time of the investigation, based upon evidence apparently damaging to him, that would now have little weight. A man under trial for a serious offence is apt to be referred to uncharitably.

OUR LIBEL SUIT.

James H. Kinkead has brought suit against the proprietor of the Gazette for libel, for publishing extracts from speeches made at the creditors' meeting on Tuesday evening. The damages are put at $10, 000 for publishing the extracts, and $5,000 for saying they seemed to reflect the sentiments of this community. It is needless for us to say that the report of the meeting was written without malice; on the contrary, we did not publish some that was most bitter, and for the fact that all of our readers were interested directly or indirectly in the meeting, we could not have published any of it. But our readers hire us to gather the news and give it to them, and we felt that we had no right to suppress it. This is the principle upon which we have acted, and which shall continue to guide the GAZETTE as long as we are connected with it. We have endeavored to work for the community which supported us, and not for any one man or set of men. If any wrong was committed in which the public was interested, we have given the plain truth, regardless of whom it hurt or whom it helped. No man but a fool would put his money into a paper and run it for Kinkead or Crockett, or any other man. If the facts which we publish are disagreeable, the actors concerned in them are to blame, and not the GAZETTE. In this bank business we have had a disagreeable duty.
It has caused us the greatest sorrow to publish ugly facts against old friends and neighbors, and we almost wish Mr. Kinkead might win his suit if by so doing he could regain the confidence and respect of the community.

A CORRECT STATEMENT.

In the complaint filed to-day in the libel suit of James H. Kinkead vs.
R. L. Fulton, an action for an alleged libel in publishing certain statements concerning the Reno Savings Bank and the plaintiff, the plaintiff makes one truthful statement, and to it the attention of the public is directed.
He swears that "the Reno GAZETTE is a paper of extensive circulation in the State of Nevada, and in other States and Territories." This statement is eminently correct. The Gazette enjoys such a large circulation, and has probably borne the name of Kinkead to regions where, but for its agency, the plaintiff's cognomen would have remained forever a word unknown. This statement in the complaint of the plaintiff, that "the Reno GAZETTE has an extensive circulation in the State of Nevada, and in other States and Territories" is commended to the attention of advertisers.
Its truth may be confidently relied on.
It is sworn to by James H. Kinkead, and he, though an enemy to the GAZETTE, is an honorable man, and, in this instance, eager to bear testimony to its value as an advertising medium, and to its influence as a public journal. The GAZETTE is supplied, Daily, $6 per year, Weekly, $2 50.

HANCOCK'S CIVIL RECORD.

The Cleveland Leader has made a diligent search of Winfield S. Hancock's civil record, and finds these to be the facts:

On the subject of currency, he is a magnificent looking fellow.
On the subject of tariff, he is a splendid soldier.
On the subject of free-trade, he wears a brilliant uniform.
On the subject of river and harbor improvements, he makes a grand appearance on horseback.
On state rights, he appears well in his epaulets and brass buttons.
On a civil-service reform, he has a fine military bearing.
On the so-called reform in the administration of the government, he is a model Murat.
On the subject of foreign relations, he wears a splendid mustache.
On the school question, he is a handsome looking man.
On all other questions of public policy, he has a martial bearing.

THAT OFFER AGAIN.

Last evening Kinkead went to Jerry Schooling's store and asked him if the GAZETTE expressed him correctly in the report of the offer to turn over the assets of the bank to the attaching creditors of the bank. Mr. Schooling said he had not seen the GAZETTE.
Mr. Kinkead then asked him to state just what the offer was, and Mr. S. gave him a card, which he took over and put in the Journal. Where the account published in the GAZETTE differs from Mr. Schooling's card, so far as it goes, does not appear. Mr. Schooling paid no attention to the offer because the attached bank could have nothing to turn over, unless he and others released their attachments, which he does not think best to do. The Gazette has no motive in misrepresenting this or any other matter connected with this business, and no one has shown where it has done so.

CROCKETT AND THE KINKEADS.

In an article upon the Reno Bank Scandal the Virginia Chronicle said last evening: "State Treasurer Crockett is placed in a very equivocal position by his irregular use of the public funds, his midnight abstraction of money from the vaults and his contradictory explanations. Unless he can explain these things, he must rest under the charge of theft made against him by the creditors. The Kinkead family seem to have been running the institution for their own benefit, for when the crash came it is alleged that they were the first to break for the vaults and save what coin they could carry away."

A POOR EXCUSE.

It is unfortunate that no way could be arranged by which the creditors and bank officers could not have the books, etc., so that some effort could have been made to realize upon the assets, and both sides protected. If the whole matter continues in litigation, there will be a great deal less to divide among the parties interested.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Eureka Leader says: "We have the very best authority for saying that within a very short time—probably within ten days—a surveying party will be placed in the field to determine the most practicable route for a narrow gauge road to connect with the Utah Southern. This will be done by the authorities of the Eureka and Palisade railroad. When this survey has been made, it is in contemplation, we believe, to submit the matter to the business men of the community, and if found desirable, a company will be formed here for the purpose building the road."

The Journal says: "Take Crockett's case: He is to blame for having the State money to his credit in the bank, and for allowing it to accumulate to such an amount as $3,000." Correct!

Cardinal McClosky writes to the New York Evening Post that the widely-published congratulatory dispatch, purporting to have been addressed by him to General Hancock, is a forgery.

Hancock is galloping along the road to the White House on a white horse with a flowing mane.—Virginia Chronicle.

This suggests Death on the pale horse, and that the fat man will die before he reaches his journey's end.

A residence of six months in the State and of thirty days in the district or county, is necessary to entitle any American citizen to vote in Nevada.

Dr. Turner, in New York, has now fasted for eleven days in eleven days, and is still confident of going without anything to eat for forty days.

The Journal says it is not afraid of any dead man that never lived.

A Lively Mining Camp.

BODIE, July 8.—In the case of the killing of Patrick Carroll on Sunday night, the Coroner's jury found that Carroll was killed by William Lemon and Eugene Goddard, and that they fired in self-defense.
James Kennedy, shot by Bill Baker Monday evening, died yesterday. The Coroner's jury found it willful murder.
Jesse Pearce, a drunken "rounder," shot Johnny Allen, a miner, in the breast yesterday. The wound is not dangerous.

A one-armed desperado named Morehead was badly cut about the face yesterday by a backkeeper, who used a tin snip. The Vigilance Committee feeling is growing more intense, and a clearing out of the Bodie branch jail is imminent.

A Mono Water-Fall.

There are many persons, even in Lundy, says the Homer Mining Index, who are not aware of the fact that at the head of Mill Creek Canyon, not more than three miles from town, is one of the grandest waterfalls in the world. An immense body of water from a natural reservoir comes thundering down into the canyon over a perpendicular bluff, making a sheer descent of over 800 feet. It is not a puny trickle—a feathery cascade—but a torrent of water that shakes the earth and deafens the beholder with its ceaseless roar.

Putting It Mildly.

The failure of the Reno Savings Bank has apparently involved State Treasurer Crockett in an ugly predicament.

A Jealous Husband's Blunders.

A jealous husband at Connorville, Ga., expecting that the object of his antipathy would call at a certain hour, stationed himself in the hallway to receive him. The first to ring the bell was his own father, but he struck before he looked, and knocked the astounded old man off the steps. "Returning his watch, he hit the next comer with equal precipitancy, and down went the postman. That blunder cost him a fine of $25.

BY TELEGRAPH.

A Brother shoots his Sister.
DANVILLE, Virginia, July 9.—Last night, about midnight, Thos. D. Dejanette entered a bagnio, enquiring for Mollie Dejanette, and at his request the two went to a private room. Repeated pistol shots followed. The police broke into the room, and the girl was found on the floor, her brother standing by with pistol in hand. He immediately confessed shooting his sister, saying he had done it to wipe out the disgrace of the family. The girl was shot four times, and two shots were fatal. She protested that her brother was right in taking her life, and begs that he be not punished. Before her brother was taken to prison, he and his sister embraced each other. The brother is a telegraph operator aged 20, the sister 17 years.

Army Worms in California.

Says the Sacramento Bee: A. Menke, the well known hop grower at Patterson's station, in Sacramento county, was in the city to-day. From him it was learned that the army worm has played sad havoc and entirely stripped every green thing from the alfalfa fields of Messrs. Pritchard, Morton, Studens, his own and others in that vicinity. He was successful in saving his hop crop from them, however, and did so by digging entirely round the fields a deep triangular-shaped ditch, with the base at the bottom. Into this the worms fell, and when they attempt to climb out again they fall back from the sloping sides and perish in the ditch. He describes the worm as from two inches to half an inch in length, with slate colored sides and a black back, and also says that their breeding places seem to be in the low alfalfa fields. Where they have passed over fields the ground is left as free from vegetable life as a plank sidewalk.

To The Masonic Fraternity.

The Northwestern Masonic Aid Association of Chicago is the largest and most prosperous one in the U. S. It now numbers nearly 8,000 members—Gives $2.50 coin to the heirs of deceased Masons—has paid out about $150,000 in six years, to widows and orphans and the annual cost of membership is but about one-fourth the expense of an ordinary insurance policy. There is no more certain, reliable or economical way of establishing an immediate estate, or providing for the future than is offered by the above institution. For further information and circulars apply or send to my office on the east side of Virginia street, south of the railroad, Reno, Nev. Jos. D. B. Boyd, Agent for Reno and vicinity.

The Odd Fellows' Building.

In reply to the item which appeared in the GAZETTE regarding the sale of the Odd Fellows' building, Mr. Powning says that $2,150 00 bonds are still out. He says he signed the deed without reading it, and knew nothing about how it read until the bank failed.

Impure Breath.

Among all the disagreeable consequences that follow the decay of the teeth, an impure breath must be the most mortifying and unpleasant to its possessor, and it is the most inexcusable and offensive in society; and yet the cause of it may easily be removed by cleansing your teeth daily with that justly popular dentifrice, FRAGRANT SOZODONT. It purifies and sweetens the breath, cools and refreshes the mouth, and gives a pearl-like appearance to the teeth. Gentlemen who indulge in smoking should cleanse their teeth with SOZODONT, as it removes all unpleasant odors of the weed. Ask your druggist for it. July 1st-D&W
